

JACK KNIGHT AND KID CRUZ DO COMEBACK

Seventh Cavalryman and Boxer Beaten by Tommy Carter May Reach Finals.

FANS ANXIOUSLY AWAIT FINALS

JACK KNIGHT, of the Seventh Cavalry, and Kid Cruz, beaten by Tommy Carter Tuesday night with two punches, both did "comeback" at the San Antonio boxing tournament Friday night. Knight defeated Ketchel, 15th Cavalry, Cruz beat Higgins, 15th Cavalry. In a hard fight, Tommy Carter and Cruz, both losers, fought their way back into good standing in the "prelims" and may go on to the finals.

Harvey Knight, the horseholder, in good condition, is a hard man to beat, especially in longer bouts, and may yet surprise the fans who thought he was out of the running when he lost a bout of the 15th Cavalry, the boy who stopped Kid Rees, Knight's opponent, at the bouts given for cattle-men at Liberty Hall ten days ago, went to the tournament a favorite but was knocked cold by young Ketchel, of the Fourth Cavalry. Ketchel showed himself to be a sturdy boxer in his appearance but leaves himself wide open for uppercuts. Ketchel saw the boys.

A bout of more than ordinary interest to those who follow the game was that between "Red" Williams, Seventh Cavalry, and "Fruky" Duquette. As in their former battle, Williams won out on greater aggressiveness and harder punches landed. Duquette offsetting with cleverness. One week of the tournament has rolled by and fans are not yet in sight of the finals. Spedall Hayden, Tommy Murphy and other crack athletes have not even wiggled a glove thus far. The finals may be reached by Wednesday of next week.

GRiffin and LENOY SCHEDULED TO PLAY IN CORONADO TENNIS TOURNAMENT. San Diego, Cal., March 22.—Among recent entries received for the annual tennis tournament to be held at Coronado, March 24 to 25, are Merwin Griffin, of San Francisco, holder of the California state championship title, and Robert Lenoir, of New York, once runner-up for the national championship singles.

JACKSON LANDS THAT RIGHT. San Francisco, Cal., March 22.—Wille Jackson, New York light weight, knocked out Frankie Farrow in the third round of a scheduled four round bout here last night. He was credited with a clean lead throughout. Joe Benjamin, of Portland, and Jimmy Duffy fought a draw.

EBYSENKO'S WAY CLEAR. TO MEET CADDICK. New York, March 22.—Walter Eby, ("Strangler") Lewis of Lexington, Ky., in one hour, 34 minutes and 22 seconds at Madison Square Garden last night. He threw Lewis with a body hold after squirming out of a head lock which Lewis had held for nearly a minute and a half. This leaves the way clear for a bout between Eby and Earl Caddick, holder of the title, the Pale contender having defeated all other prominent contenders. Caddick is with the American expeditionary forces in France. The date of his return is uncertain.

WRESTLING IN COLLEGES SLOW TO 'COMEBACK'

Championship Bouts At Penn State May Put the Game On Feet Again.

SOME BIG COLLEGES NOT IN THE LEAGUE

NEW YORK, March 22.—Of the minor college sports which seemed to have most difficulty in getting under way when the colleges began where the S. A. C. C. left off, wrestling seemed to be in the most hopeless situation. But now not only has wrestling been resumed on a broad scale in many, if not all, of the colleges in which it was proscribed before the war, but it has gained a foothold in many institutions in which it had no standing until now. Furthermore, the annual championship competition of the Intercollegiate Wrestling Association, which was virtually abandoned in January, has been resurrected and plans have been made for holding the championship bouts at State College, Pa., on March 28 and 29, practically the same dates on which they have been held in the past.

Penn State, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Lehigh, Columbia, and possibly Cornell are to take part in the tournament for individual and team titles. Yale has not been a member of the league for several seasons, although its team has met with Columbia and Princeton. It will take part in the championship. Neither Brown nor Harvard is in the league although both have teams this season. The navy has never been represented in the championships, although its wrestlers have as a rule been able to defeat the league champions without difficulty. New York University is one of the newcomers in this sport, and although it has not had a scheduled match with any of the league teams, it has done creditably in practice tournaments with the Columbia matmen.

PLAYING THIRD BASEMEN. New York, March 22.—An interesting sidelight on the work of different players is shown by the average number of chances accepted by players in some particular position. The appended table gives a list on the activity of the third basemen, stating them according to the number of chances accepted by each. It shows that Douglas Baird, who left the Cardinals in July, had the highest average of those players who took part in half of the games played by their club. Baker, of the Yankees, had the best mark among the players who were in the game all season. The figures, showing the number of games played and the average number of chances accepted per game, are as follows:

Player	G.	Ave.
Baird, Cardinals	42	2.92
Witt, Tigers	46	2.66
Baker, Yankees	176	2.63
Gardner, Athletics	137	2.54
Foster, Senators	127	2.44
Grob, Reds	124	2.44
Emmerman, Giants	130	2.37
McKichie, Pirates	124	2.36
Evans, Indians	74	2.32
Maher, Browns	79	2.32
Deal, Cubs	79	2.31
Stank, Phillies	122	2.29
McMillin, White Sox	69	2.26
O'Mara, Robins	121	2.21

Jack Johnson Reforms; Asks To Box Before Kiwanis Club

Former Champion Pugilist Will Take Up Missionary Work In South Sea Islands; To Head Crusade Against Bullfighting; Expresses Surprise At Jess Willard's Refusal.

JACK JOHNSON, ex-heavyweight champion, who has reformed and become a missionary, announces that he will abolish bullfighting in Mexico, will expose crookedness of the prize fighting and the double-crossing practiced in the bull ring. The following letter received by The Herald sport editor makes clear Johnson's plans:

Some Place in Cuba, Mar. 11, 1919. Sporting Editor El Paso Herald. Dear Sir:— I have reformed and want you to put me right with the American public. I recognize that I have traveled a deeply-blighted path but this should be forgotten in view of the fact that I have entirely reformed. I will admit that I left Spain on my present trip with some naughty ideas lingering about my cranium but on the way over I concluded to reform. That was what made me come. Every man who reforms should confess. Realizing this I spent considerable time preparing my "confession." I wrote it no less than seven times, but always I would discover some flaw in it and had to write it again. On the verge of reforming I hated to get details confused in a confession.

KID WOLF gave Pete Herman, last year champion, a neat trimming. Johnnie Kilbane, feather champion, had a close shave and took a good lashing in his comeback attempt. Desha Leonard, lightweight champ, was mannaed by Willie Ritchie rather roughly. Come in, Mr. Willard, come right in—you're next.

Frank E. Force, all expert, stopping at the Sheldon, doubts that Jess Willard is a better man than Fred Fulton when Fulton is properly handled. Mr. Force was formerly sports editor of the Mirror, was Tribune and is the man who first brought Fulton out. It was under management of Force that Fulton beat Tim Cowley, the Englishman; Al Weinst, Al Palmer and others. Fulton decided to confound Mr. Force by handling just so-so, states Force. "His temperament is quite different from that of Dempsey. By proper handling, however, I think Force would be a world beater and I feel sure that he is with Jack Dempsey's master under proper management. Fulton has a safe affair. The writer had who held the pill, however, went right through the gang and tagged his man."

The FORDSON is more than a Tractor

IT HAS proven to be such an economical, efficient, durable tractor that it pays for itself within a few months' time if used only for plowing, discing, harrowing and other field work.

But the Fordson is more than a tractor. It is an economical, powerful, portable power plant that will drive any kind of belt-driven farm implement.

With this power plant you don't have to spend valuable time dragging around a heavy cumbersome gas engine.

Down in the wood lot, sawing up the winter's fuel—up in the barn yard, filling the silo—baling hay—grinding feed—everywhere on the farm, every day in the year, there are jobs for this wonderful, portable power plant.

The Fordson is provided with a belt pulley placed at the right side of the transmission housing. It is driven through a beveled gear.

With a pulley at the right-hand side, and the belt running forward, it is easy for the driver to line up the pulley properly without leaving his seat.

The powerful Fordson engine is 22 horse power at the pulley at 1000 R. P. M. This is ample power to do any work on the farm. The pulley is 9 inches in diameter, and is designed for a six-inch belt.

Don't think of the Fordson merely as a tractor—think of it as one durable, efficient power unit that not only replaces the horses on field work, but also replaces the stationary gasoline engine, besides doing scores of jobs that have formerly been done by hand.

HERE is the receipt for arriving at the real merit of a motor car. Select a nice stiff hill with a mean kink at the bottom of it that makes it impossible for you to take a run at it. Start in at the bottom—from scratch. No tricks—no stunts—merely go through your gears and when you go over the top, a glance at your speedometer will tell the story. No sales talk, no advertisement can ever refute that heartless little indicator. Speedometers don't lie.

Mr. Editor, my plan is this: To work in conjunction with the society in El Paso for prevention of cruelty to animals and other things. An undertaking like abolishing bullfighting takes money. If your society can only furnish me with a small sum, say $12,000, I will do the rest.

You see I am thoroughly familiar with the game. Back in the days when I was a tolerably wicked fellow, living in the United States, you will remember that I was held on charges under the Mann law when I jumped my bond and went to Spain.

Reforms the Bulls.

Bullfighting is a popular before I took it up and being a little of foot I concluded to enter the game. I found that my experience in dodging the "bull" in the United States for several years stood me in good stead and I had but little difficulty in grading the Spanish bulls. I found the bulls used in Spain at that time a very ignorant breed and not educated to the finer points of the game. Often a bull that was supposed to be of noble ancestry would chase way down to one end of the ring and fight before the rabble instead of giving an exhibition in the center before the nobility who had paid fancy prices for seats. Such carelessness in bulls is unpardonable.

I did much to civilize the bull. I introduced the hornless bulls in Madrid. I am a great admirer of blue-blooded bulls—all but the horns. Horns make such a rough game and often result in the horns being broken off. I have seen some good horses almost ruined by bulls.

The Death of Bullfighting.

It is my intention to go into Mexico and enter into the bullfighting. When I have done so will want anything to do with bullfighting thereafter. The game will be a very different one to what it has been. I intend to do with it and will die a horrible death. There is every reason to believe that I will succeed. I am not almost entirely ruin the boxing game in the United States after becoming world's champion. But other ten scoundrels combined ever do as much to ruin boxing as I did. I will guarantee to do the same with the bullfighting game in Mexico. I guarantee even more effective results. You see I learned some tricks in Spain before I reformed. I will double-cross the bull or have the bull to double-cross me. I will bet my money on myself or the bull—any way to win. I will still and have an agreement with the bull to still. I am only sorry that they don't use a referee in a bullfight as a referee grinds and cocks to go off at the right time is a great helper to kill any game. However, you may trust me to do the thing in such a manner that bullfighting in Mexico will be only a memory after I am done appearing as a matador.

Not remember, Mr. Editor, that this undertaking cannot be accomplished without money. Do you think you can raise the amount I have suggested? If so, send me a check.

My intentions are to ultimately become a missionary in the South Sea Islands. I think I would do better there. I have worked other fields for about all they are worth.

Yours with a pleasant heart,
JACK JOHNSON.

P. S.—I think there is one more good fight in me besides Fred Fulton. Without a doubt Fred Fulton
